

PAR-Q & YOU
(A Questionnaire for People Aged 15 to 69)

Regular physical activity is fun and healthy, and increasingly more people are starting to become more active every day. Being more active is very safe for most people. However, some people should check with their doctor before they start becoming much more physically active.

If you are planning to become much more physical active then you are now, start by answering the seven questions in the box below. If you are between the ages of 15 and 69, the PAR-Q will tell you if you should check with your doctor before you start. If you are over 69 years of age, and you are not used to being very active, check with your doctor.

Common Sense is your best guide when you answer these questions. Please read the questions carefully and answer each one honestly; check YES or NO.

IF YOU ANSWERED

YES to one or more questions

If you have not recently done so, consult with your personal physician by telephone or in person before increasing your physical activity and/or taking a fitness test.

NO to all questions

If you answered PAR-Q accurately, you have reasonable assurance of your present suitability for exercise.

DELAY BECOMING MUCH MORE ACTIVE

*If you are not feeling well because of a temporary illness such as a cold or a fever -- wait until you feel better; or
*If you are or may be pregnant -- talk to your doctor before you start becoming more active.

Please note: If your health changes so that you then answer YES to any of the above questions, tell your fitness or health professional. Ask whether you should change your physical activity plan.

Informed Use of the PAR-Q: The Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology Health Canada and their agents assume no liability for persons who undertake physical activity, and if in doubt after completing this questionnaire, consult your doctor prior to physical activity.

You are encouraged to copy the PAR-Q but only if you use the entire form.

NOTE: If the PAR-Q is being given to a person before he or she participates in a physical activity program or a fitness appraisal, this section may be used for legal or administrative purposes.
